

A message from Tim Stimson

“I am continuing to prepare lectures, collecting images and writing for the W.E.A. Autumn and Winter terms. I have been invited to give an illustrated lecture on the 80th Anniversary of the Battle of Britain by the Civilian Charitable Trust of Hull, the city that suffered the worst bombing per acre, of any British city, so am preparing that lecture too.

I have even had the time to make some art of my own with my son, who is with us during the lockdown.”
